

SKIP the STRAW

In an effort to reduce single-use plastic,
we have gone strawless.

STRAWLESS CAFETERIAS

Mission:

POSSIBLE

REDUCING PLASTIC WASTE
IN OUR DISTRICTS
ONE STRAW AT A TIME.

According to onelessstraw.org, over 500 million straws are used daily across the United States alone. If you were to place those straws end to end, that amount of straws would circle the equator 2.5 times. Recognizing how enormous that amount of plastic straws is, The Nutrition Group has taken the proper steps to become more environmentally friendly by helping K-12 school districts reduce waste one straw at a time.

Leading the initiative is Regional Manager Jim Keller, with the assistance of Vice President Susan Veitch. Though there may be reasons why it isn't always practical, in many scenarios successfully implementing a strawless program is typically met with little to no resistance.

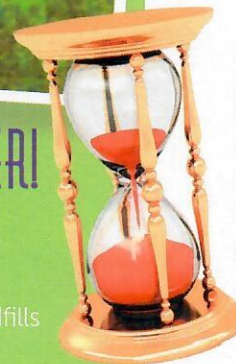

Continuing the effort to reduce waste across a number of TNG accounts, the Sustainability Team at The Nutrition Group is working with districts on how they, too, can reduce their consumption.

We are open to embracing this grass root effort and partnering with school districts in the sustainable initiatives they choose to pursue.

Straws last FOREVER!

Did you know...every plastic straw ever manufactured still exists and breaks down into small plastic micro-particles, polluting our landfills and oceans, and harming wildlife!
